The Thunder Bay Regional Research Institute (TBRHRI) - an independent, not-for-profit corporation - is the research arm of the Thunder Bay Regional Health Sciences Centre. Our scientists work closely with clinicians, medical professionals, and academic and industry partners to improve health care through excellence in patient-centered research. Research is advanced through discovery and development of new imaging-based technologies that are brought to patients through clinical trials. With successful trial validation, discoveries proceed to commercialization for the benefit of patients everywhere.

In conjunction with the Northern Ontario Heritage Fund Corporation, we are currently seeking candidates for the following position:

8502791 Research Assistant Internship (1 Year Contract)

The individual filling this position will work closely with TBRHRI Scientists and their time will be devoted to the support and enabling of research. The Intern will support research related to Dr. Alla Reznik. The Intern will be responsible for coordinating and administering research associated activities such as, project planning, monitoring financial reports and expenditures of current grants and contracts, and identifying trends associated with over/under expenditure.

The ideal candidate is highly dedicated and organized, with the ability to multitask in a fast-paced, diverse, and growing environment. Exceptional organizational and communication skills, along with strong quantitative, analytic and reasoning skills are necessary. Preferably a BSc or MSc degree in health sciences with excellent writing technique, project management, and research skills. Position also requires document management skills in Adobe, Microsoft Office applications, especially Excel. An individual is sought who can take initiative and who is interested in working in an interdisciplinary research environment. The candidate must be a University or college graduate who has graduated within the last three years from an accredited college or university. The candidate must be a graduate of a post-secondary degree or diploma program. The position will be a first full-time employment in the candidate's field of study.
